

WORLD ENGLISH 1

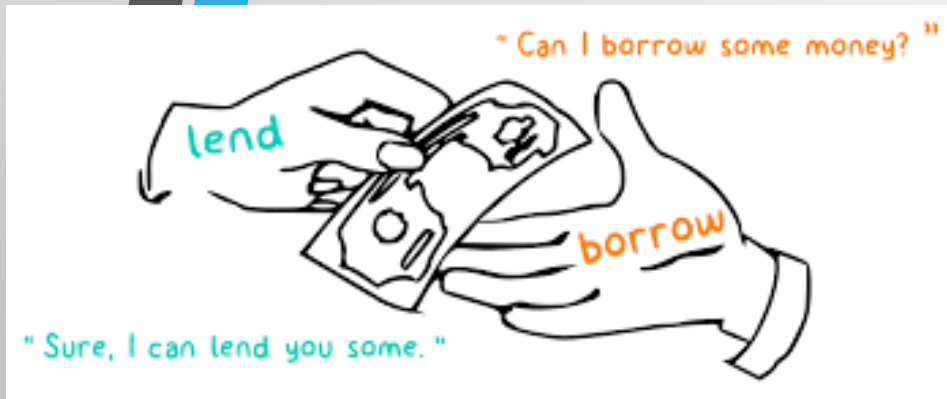

THIRD EDITION

{ If I give you 10 million dollars, what will you do? }

I will ...

Don't borrow from her

- If you borrow money from your wife, partner or your sister, you pay back several times.
- Do you borrow money from your wife?
- When you want to talk about facts or things that are usually true/ give advice some one, you use zero conditional sentences.

(+) If I borrow money from a bank, I pay interest

If clause

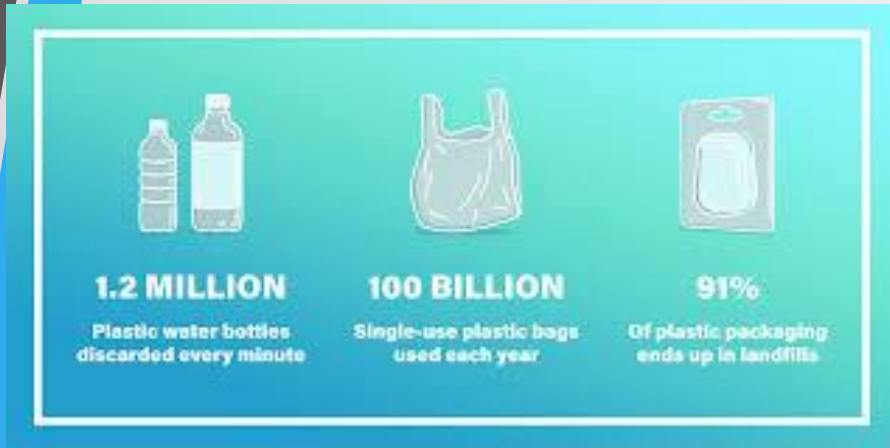

Main clause

Don't waste your money  if you receive your loan.

Main clause

If clause

how much plastic do you use every day

Is this problem in our country? How can we solve it?

Which country use
this currencies?

Money verbs

Save money with together

- If you save money with your wife's account, you will lose all of your money.
- Do you save your money with your wife's account?
- When you want to talk about future possible/probable , you use First conditional sentences.

(+) If I borrow money from a bank, I won't pay back monthly

If clause

Main clause

Come and see us next week if you have time.

Main clause

If clause

When , as soon as ,
until, before, after
, unless.

Crowdfunding for a Better World

- raise money get money from other people for a special reason (e.g., for a charity or a business)
- stupa a religious tower in Buddhism
- glacier a river of ice that moves slowly down a mountain
- melt when ice becomes water

What big decisions have you made?
What big decisions will you make in future?

A woman cares for cats at a cat and dog rescue charity
in Hiroshima, Japan.

Who wrote this email?

Hi!

It was great to hear your news! It's exciting, but you have a really difficult decision to make. On the one hand, moving to a new country is an amazing opportunity. If you live there, you'll learn a new language and see some amazing new places! On the other hand, you'll miss your family and friends.

However, if you go, we'll all come and visit you! And also, it's only for two years.

That isn't very long. So, overall, I think you should go!

Compare and contrast

When you compare and contrast different ideas and choices, you can use these linking words and phrases:

Describing similarities: It also ... / In addition, ... / Similarly, ... / Both ...

Comparing differences: On the one hand, ... on the other hand, ... / However, ... / In contrast ...

Concluding: Overall, ... / On the whole, ... / I think ... / In conclusion, ...